GLENMORANGIE: delicious whisky since 1843. Precision that defines excellence.

A single malt born in the Scottish Highlands, it stands out for its elegance, balance, and strong global recognizability. Founded in 1843 by William Matheson in Tain, Scotland, Glenmorangie represents one of the most iconic distilleries in the Scottish landscape and is now part of the LVMH group. For over a century and a half, the brand has pursued a production vision that combines tradition and innovation, maintaining exceptionally high quality standards. The passion for quality and the constant drive toward innovation brought Glenmorangie and ProMach together, giving rise to a partnership that has lasted since 2001.

Glenmorangie chose MBF and P.E. Labellers, two ProMach Product Brands, to obtain the best solutions in filling and labelling.

During this time, Glenmorangie has installed eight MBF machines and four P.E. Labellers machines to support its evolving production needs. Today, Glenmorangie produces between 35,000 and 40,000 bottles of single malt Scotch whisky per week, with the entire production filled in and labeled using ProMach technology.
